

OFFICIAL CANVASS MUST DECIDE RACE FOR U. S. SENATORSHIP

McGOVERN LEADS, BUT BY ONLY
FEW HUNDRED VOTES.

MARGIN VERY NARROW

Counting Claims Election—Candidates
That Should Favor McGovern
Yet to Hear From.

Milwaukee, Nov. 5.—The Milwaukee Journal's tabulation for Wisconsin election returns for United States senator at 1:30 this afternoon on all but four counties gave McGovern, republican, a plurality over Hastings, democrat, of about 600 votes. The counties yet to hear from should favor McGovern and it would seem McGovern is elected. The vote in 67 out of 71 counties gives McGovern 127,977, and Hastings 127,383, according to the Journal's compilation.

An earlier report says United States senatorship is still in the balance, with McGovern and Hastings claiming 127,977 and 127,383 votes respectively.

Mr. Hastings arrived in Milwaukee this forenoon from Mayville and claims from figures in his possession obtained from the district of the county that he has been elected by a plurality of over 5,000.

Republican State Chairman Alvin Klitzsch, while silent as to figures, claims the election of McGovern. The Milwaukee Daily News, democratic, claims that the election returns so far received indicate that a few hundred votes separate the two contenders for the senatorial seat, and that an official count will be necessary to decide the winner.

On the other hand the Evening Wisconsin claims McGovern will be elected with close to 4,000 to spare.

Little or no attention is being given to the returns for governor, it being generally accepted that Philipp is elected by 20,000.

Returns from 4,387 precincts with 37,000 votes, gave Sherman, republican, 37,003, and Sullivan, democrat, 25,982. Sherman's plurality being 11,021.

Davies of Wisconsin, chief of the bureau of corporations, will be given a place.

WAR AGAINST TURKEY DECLARED IN LONDON

FORMAL PROCLAMATION OF GREAT BRITAIN IS SIGNED BY KING GEORGE TODAY.

SEIZE ISLE OF CYPRUS

Important Possession of Sultan in Mediterranean Annexed by England as Preliminary Hostility.

London, Nov. 5.—It was officially announced in London today that a state of war existed between Great Britain and Turkey.

The proclamation to this effect reads as follows:

"Owing to hostilities committed by Turkish forces under German officers, a state of war exists between Great Britain and Turkey from today, and all proclamations and orders in council issued with reference to the state of war between Great Britain and Germany and Austria, shall apply to the state of war between Great Britain and Turkey."

A privy council was held in Buckingham palace this morning to discuss this question. At its conclusion King George signed the document proclaiming the state of war, and announcement was made.

England Annexes Cyprus.

Great Britain today formally annexed the island of Cyprus in the Mediterranean. The British government declared that it was necessary to appropriate the island in order that proper provision might be made for its government and for its protection.

The island of Cyprus had been occupied and administered by Great Britain, though it had remained under the sovereignty of the Sultan.

WANT SUGAR PLANT OPENED NEXT YEAR

But Desire of Owner Places Wet Blanket on Proposition Suggested by Commercial Club.

Efforts of the Janesville Commercial club to bring about a reopening of a beet sugar refinery here have been of no avail. The first correspondence was opened by Secretary MacDowell of the club, with James Davidson, the owner, regarding a reopening of the plant. Mr. Davidson's answers thus far have been very indefinite and seem to indicate little desire on his part for the reopening.

The latest letter reply to Secretary MacDowell's follows:

"The factory of the 27th inst. is received and carefully noted and we wish to thank you for the information you have given. At present time we are unable to tell you just what we are able to do in regard to operating in Janesville next year.

If the same tariff should continue and conditions are normal we would be able to operate the plant. If, however, the war in Europe gives promise of being long protracted, it might be advisable under all of the circumstances to start up the plant, but at this time we are unable to state. It will probably be January before we may definitely determine, but you may rest assured in case we have any possibility, we would be only too glad to start up the plant in question.

James Davidson.

The letter from the club gave information that satisfactory to the company regarding the growing of beets and other matter in this vicinity.

The local advancement body has been desirous that the refinery be opened to alleviate conditions consequent on so many working men being thrown out of employment. The factory formerly employed about 500 hands, mostly of winter months and is evidently meant considerable to Janesville as a whole.

Secretary MacDowell stated this morning that the factory had been offered for sale and that the plan of the plant's reopening had been discussed with the owner. The plan was to have the factory reopened and the beets for the farmers who raise the beets for the factory plant. The farmers feel that they were being underpaid during the last year the refinery was operated and many refused to contract for any acreage whatever.

Young To Be Admitted To Green

PLACE STOCKYARDS UNDER QUARANTINE

Illinois State Livestock Commission
Orders Shutdown of Ten Days
to Fight Disease.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The stockyards here will be closed at five o'clock this afternoon for the first time in its history in order of placing the yards under quarantine for a ten-day period in which to fight the foot and mouth disease, was issued by the Illinois State Livestock Commission Wednesday. This drastic measure will mean a loss of millions of dollars and the enforced idleness of thousands of employees and a temporary reduction of the nation's food supply.

A statement issued by the department of agriculture at Washington during the day pronounced the epidemic the most violent and dangerous the country has ever experienced, and predicted an emergency appropriation of several hundred thousand dollars will be asked of congress to suppress it.

The closing of the Union stock yards was ordered following the finding of six infected steers among a group of 600 feeders at the yards and eleven dead Holstein cows were exhibited at the National Dairy show in the live stock pavilion.

Bar All Shipments.

No cattle will be permitted to be shipped either to or from the yards. All cattle already shipped from unaffected areas which will reach the yards before 5 p. m. today, will be admitted. After that hour no cattle will be received until the quarantine has been raised.

A ten day limit was set on the quarantine. The yards and buildings will be thoroughly fumigated and disinfected. The ban will be lifted as soon as all traces of the disease have been eliminated and the infected cattle killed.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY AT NEW HAVEN TRIAL

William Rockefeller Says There Was No Conspiracy on His Part in New Haven Business.

New York, Nov. 5.—William Rockefeller, Standard Oil multi-millionaire, appeared today in the criminal branch of the United States district court and entered a plea of not guilty to the indictment charging him with conspiracy in connection with his acts as former director of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad company. He was placed under $50,000 bond to insure his appearance for trial.

At the same time Austria sets forth certain minor successes along the line from the river San to Jaroslav.

Petrograd, however, makes positive assertion that the Austrian movement is a retreat amounting to a rout, in which the Russians have taken many prisoners and much booty.

The Russian government, from the Russian capital, General Von Hindenburg, the German commander, is continuing his retreating movement in Russian Poland, while desperate fighting along the frontiers of East Prussia has enabled the Russians to cross the border at several points.

A significant phase of the eastern campaign is indicated by a report from Rotterdam that the ninth German corps, which had been transferred from Belgium to East Prussia.

On Western Battle Front.

In the west attention is concentrated on two points:

First, where much of the hardest fighting has already been done, in place where it is expected that the Germans are yet to deliver the full fury of their assault in the effort to gain the French coast; and at Soissons, where the German has gained the French capital, Paris, and is threatened by the British when they first crossed the river Aisne. Along this line a tremendous attack probably already is under way. The outcome may be of the greatest importance.

U. S. ARMY AVIATORS ARE HURT IN FALL

Two Army Birdmen Fall Forty Feet Near San Diego Field and Suffer Bad Injuries.

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 5.—Captain L. E. Goodier, Jr., United States aviation corps, was perhaps fatally injured, and Glenn Martin, another aviator, was seriously hurt today in a fall of about forty feet. The accident occurred near the army aviation camp at North Island, across the bay from San Diego. Two aviators were in Martin's machine.

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 5.—Listed as "undesirable alien" by the federal department of justice today are the names of many Mexicans prominent in the days of Diaz and Huerta. The city has always been largely Mexican and there many revolutionary plots have been hatched. The latest break between Villa and Carranza resulted in unusual activity in the city, with many circles. There came the announcement that federal agents were determined to resort to deportation and extradition of all Mexican refugees believed to be aiding either by counsel or money in sewing revolutionary seeds in Mexico.

A general exodus followed and today the gathering places heretofore thronged with one-time Mexicans were noticeably quiet. Dr. Urrutia, former Huerta cabinet member has left the city. Several others are known to have purchased tickets for out of Texas yesterday as clear up in El Paso is also in progress. The report that the followers of Carranza were likely to demand the extradition of Huerta to Mexico City hastened the departure of several prominent Mexicans.

PREPARATIONS MADE FOR POTATO SHOW IN LANGLADE COUNTY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Antigo, Wis., Nov. 5.—The home and plebian potato soon will be the subject of a show. He will be dragged from the comparative obscurity of his native patch and will be called on to furnish entertainment for the entire population of Langlade county. For preparations for Langlade county's best potato show are practically completed.

Mr. Potato and his relatives will appear in many guises. There will be the Rural New Yorkers, the Green Mountains, the Burbanks, the Irish Cobbler, the Triumph, the Early Roses, and the Early Ohio.

The show committee, consisting of Peter Krier, C. C. Sorenson and F. O. Swoboda, is arranging a list of prizes for the best bred and best potatoes are sure to be well bred. Wisconsin leads in eugenics. Why not the eugenic potato?

The press, as it is shown in the instance of the radium and the Friedman Basco does more good when it spreads the word of medicine than when it is used at first hand for bad and indifferent, than when it withholds news by virtue of a secret agreement with some self appointed medical committee or society," he declared.

NO CUSHION SEAT FOR THIS PASSENGER

LOST, one man. Last seen at 11:01 a. m. today clinging tightly to the hand grips of a coach on a Mineral Point division passenger train of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway. Information concerning said passenger will quickly reflect the minds of numerous St. Paul railway men.

The above is not a classified advertisement and neither is it a display ad because the train was going too fast for the railroad men to get a picture of the luckless individual.

The man was not on the train when Hanover was reached as a message was telegraphed ahead to the conductor to look for him. He arrived late at the local station just as the vestibule doors had been closed. He was evidently anxious to go in the direction of Green county as he hastily grabbed the rails and clung for dear life.

Switchmen in the upper yards saw him and informed the operator at the depot regarding his plight.

Section men covered the right of way between here and Hanover but failed to find any signs of the man. It was thought that he might possibly fall from his precarious position and be ground to death.

Riding in such a manner today and without gloves is somewhat dangerous.

Board of Canvassers: The county board of canvassers will meet at the county clerk's office tomorrow to canvass the returns of Tuesday's election. The board will be composed of C. D. McCarthy of the town of Porter, F. H. O'Neill of Beloit and County Clerk H. W. Lee.

Claims of Forward Movement by London, Nov. 5.—Naval news looms large in London today. The British public is seeking details of the battle last Sunday off the coast of Chili, but no continued efforts are being made to minimize the disaster. Great anxiety is felt concerning Rear Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock, whose fate probably will not be known until it has been definitely determined what has become of his flagship, the cruiser Good Hope.

The British public, however, is not left without some crumbs of comfort, as Berlin officially admit the loss of the cruiser. Cradock, however, makes positive assertion that the Austrian movement is a retreat amounting to a rout, in which the Russians have taken many prisoners and much booty.

BIG HERD OF CATTLE IS FOUND AFFLICTED WITH DREAD DISEASE

FEDERAL INSPECTOR CONDEMNS
SIXTY HEAD ON CHESTER
MILLER FARM NEAR EVANSVILLE.

STATION QUARANTINED

Will Allow No Stock Shipped to or From Evansville Yards—Janesville Agents Receive Orders.

Following inspection of a herd of sixty cattle owned by Chester Miller at his farm six miles northeast of Evansville, Dr. R. P. Bigman of Milwaukee, government inspector for the bureau of animal husbandry, discovered that they were infected with anthrax fever commonly known as the foot and mouth disease. The cattle were at once condemned and two assistants of the bureau were at the Miller farm today to destroy the cattle and fumigate the barns and yards.

Dr. Bigman traced the cattle from Chicago where they were purchased last week. Upon finding that they were afflicted with the dread disease which is now ravaging herds in the center of the nation, he was known here, the inspector placed the Evansville stockyards under quarantine and no stock will be received for shipment until they have been thoroughly fumigated and cleaned.

The sixty head of cattle will be killed and burned and the ashes will be burned six feet in the ground. In addition to the barns and yards where they have been fed will be treated in order to remove all vestiges of the disease. While this is the first case of the foot and mouth disease to be found among Wisconsin cattle, the inspectors who found their way into this part of the state on the theory that other cattle brought here from the Chicago yards for feeding purposes might be infected.

Local stockmen are not aware of any cattle shipped into Janesville recently but other stations in the county may have received shipments concerned among Wisconsin cattle. The stock buyers in this city received orders today that no cattle could be loaded for Chicago at this station. It is probable that the order will be extended to other animals, hogs, sheep and horses.

W. E. Shoemaker of the town of Janesville had purchased two carloads of sheep which were to have been delivered at the Evansville station last night. He learned of the quarantine at noon today and notified the owners to hold the animals pending the lifting of the Chicago quarantine. Other stock buyers in this city were inconvenienced, but may suffer loss as a result of the situation.

In connection with the quarantine in eastern states for the foot and mouth disease, the Evansville agent of the C. and N. W. road received the following order several days ago:

"We cannot accept any cattle, hogs or sheep originating at any point in Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Illinois or Pennsylvania for movement to points outside the state in which the shipment originates. Do not accept any stock having to be unloaded at a point within one of the quarantined states for feed, water and rest. The only stock that can be handled is that which is destined beyond the quarantine line and destined beyond the quarantine line. There is ample room for the stock to rest and animals for feeding and watering and without reloading."

Wisconsin Quarantined.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Definite discoveries of foot and mouth disease in Ohio and Wisconsin caused the government to order today to impose a quarantine against the shipment of live stock out of those states.

Prices of meat will not be perceptibly affected, they said, and even if the prices are slightly raised the advance would be so small that the dealers and butchers will not take advantage of them.

MADISON'S EX-MAYOR CHOSEN TO ASSEMBLY

John B. Heim, Democrat, Defeats E.
B. Steensland, Republican in Three-Cornered Fight.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 5.—The defeat of John B. Heim, Democrat, for assemblyman in due large measure to the independent candidacy of Dr. E. L. Eaton, prohibition nominee, who made a special appeal to state progressive voters and acquired a substantial support from those ranks. Both Heim and Steensland have been classed as conservative mind. One of Heim's backers said to be the introduction of a bill in the legislature to prohibit university students from voting in Madison when their homes are elsewhere. It was the university vote which is admitted to have contributed to Heim's defeat for reelection as mayor last spring. Heim was for a quarter of a century superintendent of the Madison municipal waterworks and was an officer of the American Waterworks association.

Heim's majority has been computed as 111, although he claims 150. University wards gave Heim a large vote, and he carried the Fifth ward by a few votes over Heim. Eaton was formerly a Methodist minister and is now on the Chau-laqua circuit.

With Friends

When the manufacturer's advertisement appears in the newspaper, it is "among friends."

The local advertisers are personally known to many of the readers.

Their stores are familiar, their advertising an old standby.

The new advertiser gets the benefit of being in this good company. Like the new member, he gets all the prestige of the lodge.

It is only one of many reasons why newspaper advertising is so effective to the national advertiser.

CONNORS DESCRIBES BERLIN WAR SCENE

GERMANY'S CAPITAL TEEMS WITH EXCITEMENT AFTER FIRST MOBILIZATION.

WATCH ALL STRANGERS

Government Vigilant in Its Outlook for Spies.—Citizens of Enemies' Countries Protected and Well Treated.

(By J. Francis Connors)
After the war's outbreak, all the newspapers published a sworn statement made by the head of the news bureau that all the people could be correctly informed as to the news progress from day to day. The news might perhaps be delayed in order to have the various army reports confirmed, but nevertheless all reports that would be printed were guaranteed to be absolutely true. Any paper publishing untrue articles would be severely dealt with, as all were strictly bound not to elaborate or "pad" the important reports sent in from the front.

One Berlin newspaper, called the "Acht Uhr Abendblatt" (Eight O'clock Evening Post), was suspended from publication for three days because it published a story before it was allowed to be released.
All papers were given the news at the same time to prevent "scoops" from taking place, as that was forbidden. It caused the people to place absolute reliance upon any piece of news matter published and after that all the latest editions were eagerly waited for by the populace.

The crowds would congregate at all the underground stations, platze, business corners and cafes, particularly around noon, and in the evening until about two in the morning. On Unter den Linden the crowd which poured from Brandenburger Tor to the palace would number into one hundred thousand persons. Traffic would be blocked, and even a pedestrian would find it difficult to wend his way through the mob.

Before the Kaiser and his sons went to the front, the great center of attraction would be the palace, and often during the day the royal family would be compelled to show themselves on the balcony. One can picture the patriotism shown the family upon imagining the Kaiser, Kaiserin, the family, including the crown prince and crown princess, holding in her arms her youngest child, standing on the balcony saluting and waving handkerchiefs in answer to the cheers and demonstrations on the part of the multitude below. It was a sight I shall never forget. If any person who believed that the Kaiser is not beloved by the German people, especially during this time of war, could have been on Schloss Platz and witnessed these demonstrations, he would immediately change his opinion.

At those times a foreigner underwent a risk of being arrested as a spy. The danger of violence was not in being arrested by the police but rather from the jeering, accompanying mob of always at least one hundred persons, who invariably followed the arrested ones to the police station, hooting and threatening on the way. I witnessed the arrest of a tourist couple who were dining in a restaurant on the street. The police surrounded both to protect them from injury at the hands of the mob, and thus they were accompanied to the station. The couple succeeded in proving their innocence and were later released with an apology.

While dining at the Rheingold restaurant, near Potsdam Platz, one evening, I witnessed the arrest of a Russian who was a German uniformed waiter, noticing his poor, broken command of the German language when ordering supper, immediately called some policemen, with the result that this suspect, being alone and unarmed, was arrested. The papers published the notice of his conviction as a spy a few days later.

Germany's treatment of its enemies' class, especially to those of the poorer class, deserves great commendation. All were compelled to report to the police every three days to insure their own safety. But first of all the embassies were not demolished in Berlin as was the case in American papers stating that such was the case. On the north side of Berlin in the poorer quarters, Russian and German alike were enabled to eat in the restaurants for the munificent sum of ten pfennigs (2 1/2 cents). There was a place in Berlin where dinners were served without any charge whatsoever. This as well as others being supported by the government, during the war's outbreak, so as not to incur the risk of damage by the people who at this time looked with decidedly no pleasure upon anything of a foreign appearance. The London, Westminster and Victoria Hotels changed their names. The large Piccadilly Cafe is now known as the Fatherland, and the Englische Cafe, The Queen Cafe, and others dropped their names accordingly.

About a month after the war's outbreak business began to assume a more normal aspect, although not by any means good. All the large theaters, not to mention the moving picture play houses, opened on a fair business. I attended the opening performance of "Die Meistersinger von Nuremberg" at the Charlottenburg Opera House at the first of September, and before the presentation of the opera all the members of the cast also the audience, sang the National Hymn, and between the acts any news pertaining to the war would be read from the stage.

Newspaper bulletins and extras free of charge continued to flood the streets, and naturally the war was the topic of conversation always.
From newspapers and letters received from Germany the past week, concerts and recitals are already under way, although, of course, none of the participants being of English, Russian or French nationalities, as they would not be tolerated. The fall of Antwerp was a signal for a great ovation in Berlin. The people celebrated the capture of what they considered the second strongest fort in the world with cheers of joy at the success of the army, and from every building floated a German flag, so that Berlin presented a gala appearance, ing, both being sounded about nine o'clock with only a fifteen minute interval between the two.

The first fire was caused by a faulty chimney at the McCooey residence on Linn street. No damage was caused.
The second was the burning of a wooden crosswalk at the corner of Washington avenue and Cherry street. Chief Klein's "red scout" answered the call and the burning walk was flooded with chemicals.

NO HEADACHE, SOUR STOMACH, BAD COLD OR CONSTIPATION BY MORNING.

Get a 10-cent box now.
Purged Tongue, Bad Colds, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

NO GAME FOR HIGH ELEVEN THIS WEEK

Blue Squad Are to Have Plenty of Practice for Coming Contest With Beloit on November 14th.

The first open date on the high school football schedule comes Saturday, when the members of the squad will visit the Beloit-Lawrence game at Beloit, or the Carroll-Lake Forest contest at Waukesha.

The team have been holding workouts every afternoon this week, and with the exception of Saturday, will continue with hard drills, preliminary to the still Heloit struggle a week from Saturday. The contest to be played at the Driving park in this city.

Beloit's strength is superior to the Janesville squad. There is little doubt but what the purple athletes from the Line City will trim the locals by a good safe margin, unless a new flash of form is exhibited by Coach Curtis' eleven.

The approach of the last month of the football season at Cornell finds the Ithacans in possession of one of the best scoring eleven in the history of the game at Cornell. The splendid showing of the football machine in the games with Carlisle, Bucknell and Brown indicates that for the balance of the season the Ithacans will be big factors to be reckoned with. The reversal of form manifested by the Cornell football team in the past four weeks has been marked. Beaten in the early games by Pittsburg and Colgate, the eleven found itself in the fullan game, and since that time has been traveling at a great clip. A comparison of the scores made by Cornell so far this year with the scores of the last two years for a corresponding period is the best evidence of the power of the attack which Dr. Sharpe has built up this year.

THE lean horse for the long race—a small chew of "Right-Cut" goes further, lasts longer, gives more real comfort and satisfaction than the big wad of the old kind.

Men are glad to tell each other about "Right-Cut". Pure, sappy tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes your mouth sore and even the throat.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and fillers. Notice how the small brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut".

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

WINTER LEAGUE DOPE PICKS BOSTON AGAIN

Braves Conceded Excellent Chance of Repeating in National. Detroit Tigers Will Be Strong. (By Hal Sheridan.)

New York, Nov. 5.—The most human thing the Philadelphia Athletics have done in the last couple of years was to take a licking from the Boston Braves. It wasn't a thumping as a result of which doubt might be expressed, but a good sound thrashing, and this means nothing in the general consideration of what may happen in the American League during the season of 1915.

The winter league outlook is that Boston has an excellent chance of having a corner on the World Series next year. The speed of the Mackmen has been broken. It doesn't take any super-human efforts to turn the trick either just an aggressive attack with a sting in every blow, and a defense that refuses to admit it is punctured. The Boston Braves showed that in a series lasting four games. Over a stretch of 154 games, the wall of the Athletics must, of course, assert itself to more effect, but the threatening gestures against Connie Mack's grabbing another pennant are coming from Boston, just as the threats and then the wallop came from that direction for McGraw and the Giants in the National League this year.

The Athletics gave no indication of being broken and on the down grade in the clashes with the Braves for the world's championship, but the Boston Red Sox give every indication of having their tails raised and their glide down the chute which followed their copping of the world's title two years ago. As a wind-up they beat the Athletics nine straight games in their concluding sets of games. They wound up with a rush that carried them within striking distance of the leaders, but the sprint was timed too late. With the pounding handed out by the Braves, Boston teams took the Athletics into camp on thirteen consecutive occasions, which is swinging along with a fair amount of precision and in a manner that might almost suggest collection. The Mackmen have not hit the bumps yet, but whether the great machine may waver if pressed sufficiently next year ought to serve for a matter of debate during the long cold spell ahead.

The Red Sox have all that could be desired in the pitching line. Their infield was strengthened when Hoblitzel was planted at first and now compares favorably with the best of them. Nothing is lacking in the outfield and Tris Speaker stands out as the particular terror in the attack.

As good as Clark Griffith's Washington collection looked during the last year's winter session, they failed to put the expected dent in proceedings. They kept themselves in the fight, but their threats were never dangerous. Walter Johnson was picked with more regularity than usual, which speaks volumes. Had Johnson breezed through with as big a year as he showed for 1913, Washington would have been a dangerous proposition. Next year the great speed merchant should swing back again. Hughey Jennings had yet to whip his Detroit Tigers into the speed necessary to carry them to a position of real contenders since his unhorsing after the string of triple victories. What with the thumping of butcher boys and other pastimes of Ty Cobb, Jennings was difficult keeping in the firing line in a manner that would assure a constant hammering with full strength. In case of a grand scramble among the four leaguers, the Detroit Tigers should cut a big figure in 1915, however.

The remaining four clubs of the Johnson circuit are more or less colorless. The White Sox have cantered along without about the same game gait and the same brand of ball. The Cleveland Naps broke all records for ability to sink so deep that there was no chance of any one getting beneath them. While a long string of automobiles stood outside the ball park, the owners of the cars romped care, free and spiritless on the field in taking their daily licks. The St. Louis Browns have retired from the Browns of a couple of years back and carried their fight along with much gusto for a time, and will offer a scrap on most any old occasional. The power has been lacking there, however.

A regular manager must be picked for the New York Yankees before the season opens. Roger Peckinpaugh did the piloting during the latter games of this year, after Frank Chance packed his belongings and fled. Some believe Roger may be given an opportunity to continue his job during next season. Under present conditions Peck is welcome to the task. The Yankees are burdened with quantities of material that would go toward making a strong minor league team, and larger quantities from a strategy board that doesn't know how to "stratagem."

The are afflicted with "inside baseball" of the brand that does not appear on the field, but comes from a source lacking in baseball brains. One of the favorite pastimes in New York is selling the Yanks and it begins to look as though Ban Johnson may have to make a housecleaning about this club as President Tener did in casting a certain pompous person from the Cubs.

The last word in the loose, buttoned through overcoat, cut in the new manner. Adaptation of the Cavalryman's Cape—full back and full sleeves from one piece of cloth without a seam. Wide velvet collar, full soft-roll lapel, patch pockets with flaps, sleeves finished with a cuff. Front closes with half-ball buttons of buffalo horn.

You should get into the KLAIVICLE to appreciate its effect at shoulders and collar; its clean drape and generous lines.

In loose overcoats this is the coat of the hour. With a swing and style becoming to most men; it is warm, easy, comfortable, suitable for the street, for all-around wear and for driving your car. Free play for the arms; no seam to bind or make the shoulder ache.

STINGING REBUKE.

The retrogression of progressivism has been marked by the results of the Tuesday election throughout the nation. The defeat of Hensley in California, the probable election of Phelan for the senatorship, despite the fact that Johnson, republican and erstwhile Roosevelt leader on the coast, was again elected governor, all have their place in the tale. In Washington, Wesley Jones, a republican, won out in his fight, marking another chapter of the retrogression. In Utah, Reed Smoot again returns to Washington despite the combination of democratic and progressive forces. Oregon also demonstrated sagacity in its returns. Taking it all in all the Pacific coast looks as though it had thoroughly repudiated the progressive idea as demonstrated by Roosevelt.

The Milwaukee Free Press summarizes the situation by saying unkind things about Wilson, Roosevelt and La Follette.

Among the sadder and let us hope, wiser men that are found among the wreckage of the election, Wilson, Roosevelt and La Follette are the conspicuous victims.

"The president, with his administration repudiated; the rough rider, with his personal party blasted into unrecognizable bits; the Wisconsin crusader, with his leadership reduced to a pitiable joke, are the objects of a great national rebuke and fortune are they if they can read its lesson."

"The people of the United States have not suddenly turned reactionary. They are as intent on going forward as much as they have ever been, provided the forward movement is sane, normal and in response to actual need."

"But the people of this country have become heartily sick and tired of 'progressiveness' for political purposes. They have come to see that the popular awakening toward certain ancient abuses has been capitalized by political leaders and converted into a means for getting and keeping office. They have discovered that these leaders have taken up one alleged 'progressive' scheme after another, not because it was either proven or called for, but because it was calculated to keep up the agitation and maintain those leaders or their parties or factions in power."

"Among the most conspicuous of these offenders—the symbols, as it were, of the whole cheap and vitriolizing tendency to convert the fine, new liberalizing spirit of the people into a personal and partisan asset—are Messrs. Wilson, Roosevelt and La Follette."

"The two former, in their eagerness to cater to what they conceived to be the popular passion of the moment, have proclaimed doctrines and advocated policies which they had sprung less than half a decade ago; they suddenly became so extreme in their 'progressiveness' that they seemed at times in danger of defying the very law of gravitation."

"With Senator La Follette in turn, 'progressiveness' has degenerated into something little better than a mean and petty political game whose by-product was every species of extravagant legislative activity."

"What all of these political leaders, distinguished, able and experienced as they undoubtedly are, have underestimated is the practical 'show me' temper of the American people. In their eagerness to make political capital they failed to ear in mind that, however earnest and widespread the awakening of that people to the social, economic and governmental needs of the hour, it would sooner or later apply the tests of reason, of common sense, of material benefit to the increasing program of alleged progress."

"The American people may be idealistic, but if so, its idealism is essentially utilitarian. This people demands progress, at when it discovers that certain alleged instruments of progress, which are the stock of the politicians, are producing little while proving a drain on the public purse, it is bound to demand an accounting, a reckoning."

"And the American people is bound to demand that the more when it sees its most conspicuous leaders, all flaunting the banner of 'progress,' all loggerheads among themselves, each trying to best the other."

"With Wilson, Roosevelt and La Follette each given the slap of rebuke we may expect the decline of the word 'progressive' as a partisan and personal shibboleth, and its restoration to the sound and wholesome sense which it should enjoy."

"In the meanwhile, sander, saner, less opportunistic leaders will have a chance to gain the confidence of the nation in an effort to guide the public demand and the response of its representatives in the direction of intelligent, liberal, constructive purpose."

THE PIVOTAL STATE.
Interest in the election centered in Illinois where the three parties were strongly represented, and the outcome was regarded as vital to the presidential election of 1916. The state was thoroughly canvassed by campaign speakers of national reputation and on the eve of election all sorts of claims for success were made by campaign managers. In the final outcome returns show that Colonel Roosevelt's party made a poor showing and failed in its only purpose to defeat the republican candidate. If either President Wilson or the colonel find any satisfaction in the outcome of the Illinois election they are welcome to it.

For an off year the election is significant. It demonstrates that the party now in power by minority vote, is not gaining in popularity, and that the demoralized ranks of the republican party are rapidly closing up and will present a solid front in 1916. The progressive party, as a national organization, would never have been born but for the personal ambition of Theodore Roosevelt, and its rapid decline is not occasion for surprise.

A FORLORN HOPE.
Colonel Roosevelt was badly sold out, by his friends, when he was induced to put his finger in the political pie in Wisconsin, and Senator La Follette's judgment was a little off when he entered the state for the same purpose.

posu, Blaine was a dead duck in the political pit, from the start, and everybody in the state knew it. This is a poor year to monkey with the buzz-saw. The people are doing a little thinking on their own account, and the more they think the better they act. When the progressive party attempted to swallow the republican party it undertook a large contract. The party has no excuse for existence and never had except to gratify personal ambition. The early promoters have dropped out by the wayside or returned to the fold, while the spectacular shouter of Oyster Bay is a sorry figurehead badly demoralized—the spectacle of a man who committed political suicide by inflation.

The Chicago Tribune also makes its bid for climbing on the band wagon and says that the result of Tuesday's election shows "That the progressive party has shrunk from second place to a bad third. The reason for this reversal is not far to seek. The nation was not democratic in 1912." This is true but it was just such papers as the Tribune that made possible the selling out of the republican administration to the democrats to vindicate their personal spite against certain political leaders. As the Tribune states, "Wilson was elected by a minority vote." But it is the saddest blow to the progressives to realize that all the "old guard" in Illinois and other of the "Lame Ducks" the nation through, were re-elected to congress when the people came to their senses. Taking it all in all it is a stinging rebuke to progressivism and within the next two years the republican party will be more firmly knit together than ever and have the confidence of the voters the nation over.

HOLDS EXAMINATION FOR

BELOIT MAN FOR LARCENY

District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie yesterday prosecuted the case against James ("Jim") Quinn of Beloit, who is being held under the state charge of larceny from the person. Before Judge John Clarke in the Beloit municipal court Quinn pleaded not guilty and was held to stand trial on the charge under one thousand dollar bonds.

It is alleged by the state that Quinn "pinched" a roll of fifteen dollars from Addison Titus, who was giving an "election night" celebration, during which Quinn is said to have stolen Titus' money.

BRIDGE TO BE OPEN
FOR TRAFFIC FRIDAY

Workmen Expect to Complete Repairing
of Monterey Bridge Today.
—Have Caved-in on Pleasant Street Sewer.

It is expected that the Monterey bridge will be opened to traffic Friday,
as the workmen will complete laying the paving blocks today, and the greater part of the paving pitch which will cover the surface has been applied. Counting Friday the workmen have been engaged in making repairs just fourteen working days, which is considered exceptionally good time.

By working two gangs from both ends of the structure the work of laying the crocoked blocks was hastened greatly, and the laying of the pitch will not require more than today to finish. Cement approaches to the ends of the bridge will be made, and the improvements for carrying off the water by slanting the planking toward the north side, the bridge should be able to withstand the wear of traffic
for a number of years.

Work on the Pleasant street cement sewer will probably be finished the last of this week, leaving a few days'
time to construct the big manhole and catchbasin to be built at the corner of Chatham street. Today the digging work up to this section was completed and the sewer laid for some distance up the block. As feared, the gas main broke when a cave-in Tuesday night snapped the main at the Pearl street intersection. Fortunately there were no workmen in the ditch
at the time, and quick work in shutting off the gas prevented any damage.

A section of pipe was laid the morning, which allowed the use of the gas to residents in this section.
The manhole to be built at Chatham street will be the largest in the city and will be a big undertaking. The catchbasin will be sixteen feet deep,
which will require a drop of four feet,
the level of the sewer being twelve feet at this point.

A gang of men was sent to grading streets in the First ward yesterday and today leveled up several thoroughfares in the Fifth ward, including Eastern avenue on the river banks and Western avenue is being leveled and covered.

CLOGGED FURNACE PIPE
CAUSES FIRE ALARM

Starting a fire in a furnace the drafts of which were not only closed but clogged, caused a fire alarm from the store recently vacated by the Hub
Clothing Company, on South River street, at three-thirty yesterday afternoon. The smoke from the furnace unable to escape through the pipes accumulated in the basement and poured out the window to the street.

The alarm was sounded from box eighteen, and because the box is situated in the business district, the fire truck, Chief Klein's wagon and the hook and ladder apparatus were sent out. The man in charge of the building was instructed to clean the furnace.

U. W. AGGIES STUDY
ON COUNTY FARMS

ALLEN B. WEST POINTS OUT MAN-NER IN WHICH VARSITY STU-DENTS DEVELOP EDU-CATION BY HARD WORK.

TWO LOCATED IN ROCK

Benedict Farm, Near Beloit, and Dougan Tract Give Students
Ample Experience.
(By Allen B. West.)

The Dougan Guernsey Farm, two miles east of the city of Beloit, is in its relation to the College of Agriculture at Madison.

By this term is meant a farm approved
by the college as a place where advanced graduate
students may obtain comprehensive training and experience in actual farm work
for which they are given credit
at the college.

A student doing
satisfactory work
on such a farm
for one year is given a credit
equivalent to half a year's work at the college.

In Rock county
there are at present
only two Benedict farm 4 miles from Beloit being the second. In order that a farm may be on the accredited list it is necessary that it and its owner or manager shall conform to a certain type outlined by the committee on such farms. The owner or manager of the farm must be a progressive man who is an eminent success in his business, and one who is willing to take an interest in the student and to impart to him practical information that will contribute to his future success. He should be a man of strong individuality and excellent character, whose example might well be followed by the students. He must understand how to maintain the fertility of the soil, and what are the underlying principles of drainage, tillage

and soil erosion.

He should also practice a rational system of crop rotation and should use pure bred seeds as far as possible.

He should have a reputation for handling good stock and should know how to feed scientifically.

His farm should be run on a financially paying basis, and should be equipped with the necessary tools so that the work may be done advantageously.

The owner or manager of such farm should be one who is successful in handling men, and he should keep accounts and conduct his farm according to business principles.

These and other requirements are all met by the Dougan Guernsey
Farm and its owner.

On many dairy farms the problem
of securing help is a serious one.
Especially if, as in the case of the Dougan farm, milk is delivered from wagons each day in the city. In some instances the difficulty in obtaining help is so great that farmers are prevented from going extensively into dairying, or give it up after experiencing its trials.

But Mr. Dougan has no help problem. He has always been able to secure on his farm a superior class of young men, and he is, eager to do the work assigned them.

For this state of affairs there may be several reasons, but no doubt one of the most important reasons is that his farm is conducted in such a manner as to make the work attractive to men whose purpose it is not merely to earn some money to help themselves along, but to fit themselves either for practical farmers or for the profession of teaching agriculture.

They come to the farm anxious both
to do and to learn.

At the time of our recent visit to the Dougan Guernsey Farm eight men were employed, all of them students of the College of Agriculture at Madison, either in the long or short course,
some of them coming for the purpose of receiving credit of half a year of college work for a year's work done on this farm, others not having yet taken sufficient work at Madison and elsewhere to enable them to take advance of this state of affairs.

Those who wish to learn all the details of the business are given opportunity to do so by being assigned to different kinds of work.

On the farm there is work in the fields, work in the barn with the herd, work in caring for the horses, work in the bottling room and work in delivery, a man has opportunity to learn all these various lines by actual experience, being assigned first to one and then another department until he has made the rounds. Incidentally learning a great many other things essential to the management of a large dairy farm.

Another factor, perhaps, in Mr. Dougan's ability to keep good help after he has secured it, is to get help and keep it are sometimes different problems, in the fact that the hour at which the day's work closes is six o'clock. It is necessary to get an early start in the morning when one has a milk route, and Mr. Dougan considers the men in his employ for the work is shut down at six. So the work is begun between three and four in the afternoon and work is all over before supper, leaving time for wholesome recreation if desired before the early bed time made necessary by the early rising hour.

But perhaps the most radical of all Mr. Dougan's methods is the one by which he gives each of his men one whole day of rest in each week, a method which is doing more toward menting and which is proving satisfactory.

Mr. Dougan is a man of ideals.
When he started his farm his ideal was to produce the best milk that could be produced for a living price.
However, within a short time he saw that and that was to do it in such a way that one could not only make a living but could live a life worth while. His ideals for himself are also his ideals for the men in his employ for he practices not only dairying but the Golden Rule. He wanted a day of rest himself and he wanted his men to have one. The results of his ideals and his experiments is that the work that is necessary to be done on Sunday, which is, of course, considerable,
for cows must be fed and cleaned and milked, and milk delivered on Sunday morning, is done by the entire force, turning the day of rest into that on that day. This enables them to get it done in half the time they devoted to work on other days, and all through in time to attend church
if they wish to do so. The result of the half day of work on Sunday,
each man is given a half day off during the week. Beginning at noon on Monday a man is free to come or go as he pleases until work starts on Tuesday morning, no matter how rushing work may be on the farm.
Tuesday afternoon B takes his turn,
and on Wednesday C, and so on,
through the week, each man having his half day off in this routine.
The proprietor and manager is excepted,
he having his complete day off on Sunday.

It is not that the young men
are men of stability and character
there might be temptation to abuse
this privilege by making an unwise use of their time, but the facts of the case are that none have ever been known to do so.

Another factor, and one not to be overlooked, in this matter of keeping good help is the matter of wages.
These, of course, vary according to service required, and the previous experience of the man, but in Mr. Dougan's principle to pay as high wages as good business will permit.

The housing and caring for the help present another problem, and one that requires in this case the cooperation of Mrs. Dougan's efficient partner in the business, Mrs. Dougan, for the men become members of the family when they enter the employ of the farm, and it is no less so to feel and care for eight men whose outdoor work brings to them appetites that mean a large consumption of things good to eat. To make it possible to do this, labor saving devices are applied the housewife wherever practable. The engine which runs the machinery in the milk room charges a dynamo which runs the electric vacuum cleaner and furnishes lights for house and barn. The washing is done in a power washing machine. The dishes are washed in a really practical dish washing machine which is easy to run, quick in its operation, reducing the time required for this task to the minimum.

Aside from these appliances there exists in this large family a spirit of co-operation which leads the different members to lend a helping hand wherever needed, and it is not uncommon to find the men during their hours of voluntarily running the dishwashing machine, or peeling potatoes, or in the partner who makes all the activities of the farm possible by her hearty co-operation.

AFRICA, THE HOME OF BIG GAME

The Most Prolific Continent in Wild
Animal Life and Varied Races.

Those of us who love to know and learn about the fierce jungle brutes,
the gorgeous birds and sinuous reptiles, must study the great continent of Africa in order to best understand the most widely diversified animal life found on any continent of the globe.

A large manager or zoological park receives the great mass of his recruits from the jungles, plains and mountains of the Dark Continent. Darling hunters of every civilized nation
have ransacked African wilds
and deserts for new and thrilling adventures. Naturalists and collectors from the great museums of the world spend years in Africa collecting and naming new and strange species.

It was inevitable that the most prominent and thorough hunter of this century, Theodore Roosevelt, should make his greatest trip to this hunter's paradise. His party was composed of zoologists, directly in the employ of the United States government, and the magnificent trophies of his skill
can now be seen in the National Museum at Washington.

velt's masterly account of his trip, is a classic, and has been regularly sold

Stomach Sufferers

France has been called the nation without stomach troubles. The French have for generations used a simple poisonous matter. The stomach is left to perform its functions nor-

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

CONDEMNED WITHOUT TRIAL.
ONE OF my friends will never recommend a book or a play without qualifying his statement by adding "in my opinion." In other words he is careful to make it plain that while he is giving his opinion on such a book or play, he is not giving his opinion on the person who wrote it. You see, said the other day, "You won't like him at all. He is very conceited and disagreeable."

Now I think he is typical of a great many people, who, wise enough to realize that your tastes and theirs may differ in many matters of like and dislike, will not hesitate to say that you will, or will not, like some acquaintance of theirs. You are assured that, "Oh, you wouldn't care for her at all," or that, "He's just splendid. I know you'll be crazy about him." If we hear a book or play condemned, it is quite probable that we will accept the judgment as final without further investigation. The loss to us, if any, is negative. But when it comes to the man or woman whose qualities we have heard discussed, we are less fortunate. For it is quite possible that sooner or later we will come into contact with them. And then our preconceived notions will, like as not, bring us to grief.

I know of a man who had been described to me as hard and sharp. At first sight I read in his face confirmation of all I had heard and myself added the adjective "crude." He was a business man and I had some dealings with him. I kept very much on my guard. I was determined he should take no advantage of me. After a while, however, I discovered that this person and told of my satisfaction at having escaped unscathed.

"Why," said he, in amazement, "that's the funniest thing I ever heard of. S. would give his last cent to the first man that asked him for it. If his wife hadn't held him back he'd have been bankrupt long ago." Now my second informant unquestionably knew more about S. than the first had. And had I gone to S. with open, unprejudiced mind, I would probably have even in his face manner something different from that which my misinformation led me to look for. But I had fallen into a very common fault. Instead of saying to myself, "S. is hard and sharp because T. says he is," I should have said, "T. thinks S. is hard and sharp. I wonder if it's so." But I had simply adopted T.'s opinion as the truth, without stopping to think it might be nothing more than T.'s opinion.

It's just as well to remember, when somebody tells you something uncomplimentary about somebody else you do not know, that some day somebody may say something uncomplimentary about you to somebody who doesn't know you. It would be the height of injustice for this person who had never seen you to condemn you on any such inadequate grounds.

And of course it would be equally unjust for you to condemn anybody you had never seen, on any such inadequate grounds.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young lady of twenty. I am engaged to a young man of twenty-four. He is a man of good habits and is earning enough to support a wife. But my people are very much opposed to my marrying him. I am too young to know what I want. I want to wait until I am twenty-five to marry. I am in a desperate case. Can you advise me what to do?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I was engaged to a girl and loved her deeply. She may have had some other admirer, but I loved her and would receive calls from other men. I objected and it made a scene. She gave me back my ring. I like any way I can find out if she really cared for me. If your engagement was not announced you could not expect the girl to see callers. I can never expect to be happy with a woman I cannot trust. If she cared for you it would make her doubly indignant to be doubted by you. Ask permission to call and talk the thing over. Calmly tell her just how you feel toward her and why you were disturbed. If she cares for you she will allow you to come and will make it all right.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young wife with one child. My husband went away and left me. I obtained work and am supporting myself and child. After about a year he came back and wanted to begin to support me. I have no work and cannot support three. What shall I do?

My dear, you have a hard problem. Did you know that right solve your problem. This thing is certain. It is not your duty to go back to a man who has deserted you unless he shows unmistakable signs of amendment. He must be able to earn a living and let drink alone. Tell him when he has accomplished these things you will consider the matter. If he cannot do this, nothing could be worse for a child than a drunken father. That is worse than no father.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you please give me a remedy for ink stains? I have spilled ink on a fine lacy dress and am very anxious to restore it. E. L. Peroxide of hydrogen will remove ink from white goods. When first applied the ink spot gets brighter, then rub soap on it and wash in tepid water. Second application may be necessary.

Household Hint

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.
For the Hungry Boy After School—A friend of mine who has three hungry boys of different ages, who come home from school clamoring for "something to eat," has devised this scheme to keep them out of the pantry: She has three boxes plainly labeled with their names, and after dinner she fills each with whatever is best for that particular boy.

When hanging rug on the line to beat, instead of hanging directly on the line, secure a strong pole (like the one rug came wrapped on), fasten the line around ends of it, then hang rug over pole; will prevent rug wrinkling up and it will hang straight.

Hint on Eyelet Embroidery—In working eyelet embroidery, so fasten tablespoon melted butter and white of one egg well beaten. Bake in slow oven in raw pie crust. When done spread over top the remaining white beaten very light with one teaspoon granulated sugar. Set in oven till light brown.

Thanksgiving Plum Pudding.
This is the old-fashioned Thanksgiving pudding, such as grandmothers used to make. It must be cooked a few days before it is to be served. Make a custard of four eggs, two cups sugar, one teaspoon salt, one small nutmeg (grated), a little salt and two quarts milk. (Do not cook.) Butter deep earthen pudding pot, line bottom with raisins. Next put slices of buttered stale bread (minus crusts), sprinkle with sugar. Pour in some custard. Next put in a layer of raisins, and keep alternating with custard and raisins. Bake four or five hours slowly, putting in a little custard occasionally until all is used. When done, run knife around edge and set pudding away to cool. Serve with whipped cream or any good sauce.

Gingersnap.—Put one pint New Orleans molasses, one cup light brown sugar, two-thirds cup dripping and one tablespoon ginger in sauce pan and boil until it thickens considerably. Cool and add one teaspoon soda dissolved in one-half cup water. Mix enough flour to make dough, roll very thin, cut and bake in hot oven.

Delicious Sweet Pickles.—Purchase one dozen large sour pickles (not dill). Cut them in small chunks and place in two quart crocks. To each crock add a cup of granulated sugar and let stand 48 hours.

Baked Cream Fish (very nice).
Four-pound fish boiled and chopped fine, one quart milk, two small onions, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, three tablespoons flour, yolks two eggs, one-fourth cup butter. Heat milk in double boiler. When hot add onions chopped fine, salt and pepper. Cook about 20 minutes, thicken with flour wet in milk, and add butter and yolks or eggs. Put fish and dressing in baking dish in alternate layers, cover with buttered cracker crumbs and bake half hour in moderate oven.

Baked Onions.—Parboil 20 minutes. Put in pans and just cover with water. Bake until tender. When done, add one cup cream to liquor and thicken in pan. Have an egg well beaten and pour mixture over it, pour over onions and serve. Very nice served with beef loaf and potatoes, all of which can be done in oven at same time. If all is prepared in the morning, makes an easy dinner to get at night.

Mint Cocktail.—Cut one can pineapple into small cubes. Remove pulp from three oranges and cut into small pieces. Break one-fourth cup after-dinner mints into tiny pieces and mix with the fruit an hour before lunch, setting away in cold place. Serve in sherbet glasses covered with crushed ice and powdered sugar. This is a delightful first course for dinner or luncheon, and can be used for dessert if one preferred.

Beets in Sour Jelly.—Mix one-third cup sugar with three tablespoons cornstarch. Add one-quarter cup water and one-half cup vinegar. Cook over hot water. Pour hot over cooked beets cut in thin slices. Set away to cool.

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

She met him at the door with a happy smile, and taking his face between her hands said as she kissed him: "Many happy returns of the day, dear old boy. Did you think I had forgotten it was your birthday?"

"Why, yes, I had most forgotten myself. My, but you are doted up tonight," he continued, holding her off at arm's length. "Of course I'd wear the dress you like best on your birthday. Now you must dress for dinner tonight, as it's a festive occasion. Hurry for everything is about ready, and she bustled away to the kitchen."

It certainly was a pretty sight that greeted the eyes of Phil Armstrong when he entered the dining room. The three children in gala attire assailed him with birthday "pats," while he took in the decorations, the pretty shaded candles, the flowers and a mysterious stand by his place, covered with a linen drape.

An envelope was pinned on the cover addressed to him. He opened it while his wife tied on the baby's bib and lifted him into his high chair. It read:

"This business, assistant applies for a position in your private office and is especially recommended by your loving wife. Many happy birthdays to you. The flowers are from the children. He raised the drape and there was a handsome typewriter. He had many times expressed a wish for one, but never felt able to buy it. He kissed the radiant face upturned to his, saying, "My dear! how could you do it? They are so expensive."

Welsh Gold Mines Still Worked.
A rich vein is reported to have been struck. Have been systematically worked for over sixty years. Gold was first discovered in the principality in 1846, in a lode, on the Clogau mountain.

OLD HOOP IN NEW FORM

Candidate for Renewed Popularity in a Slightly Changed Shape.

The old-fashioned hoop, which was very popular in the days of our grandmothers and a little later, has been recently put forward in a slightly different shape in a bid for renewed favor. The first hoop was a circle of wood beaten with a stick, but the improvement on that was one of iron driven by being pushed rather than beaten, by a metal hook, the end of which embraced the metal circle so as to maintain the two parts in constant contact. Both of these forms were in favor years and years ago, and in the meantime their popularity waned and other forms of amusement devices took the place of the hoop to a great extent. Now it is "sprung" on the young of the present day in slightly different form. It is made entirely of metal and the main difference as compared with its predecessors is that it is many sizes larger. In fact, it is more than twice the diameter of the old one. As a boy or girl of ordinary size runs beside the hoop, the top of the latter is towering above the child's head. The propulsion is done by means of a metal apparatus consisting of a handle with a complete circle on the end, through which the big metal ring passes continuously.

of it, but I don't believe I would do this work any more. Your health is worth more than anything else to us all," said her husband, smiling across the table at the happy face opposite. ## MRS. MABEN WAS MADE WELL

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Wants Other Suffering Women To Know It.

Murfreesboro, Tenn. — "I have wanted to write to you for a long time to tell you what your wonderful remedies have done for me. I was a sufferer from female weakness and displacement and I would have said tired, worn out, feelings, sick headaches and dizzy spells. Doctors did me no good so I tried the Lydia E. Pinkham Remedies—Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash. I am now well and strong and can do all my own work. I owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and want other suffering women to know about it."—Mrs. H. E. MABEN, 211 S. Spring, St., Murfreesboro, Tenn.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for nearly forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Why Lose Hope.
No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham, Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

"You certainly have worked very hard to do all this in addition to your other work. I am afraid it is too late for you. I was a beautiful thought and I shall take great pleasure in the typewriter because

EVERYDAY TALKS TO EVERYDAY PEOPLE

(BY FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.)

In the home, as well as in the world outside, things have to be accomplished that will count today, tomorrow and the day after. The majority of housecleaners merely air their pillows at the cleaning time, but if one stops to think of the cold and other germs they contain they will give way of doing this is to put one gallon of water in the boiler with one good bar of laundry soap. Do one pillow at a time, allowing it to remain in the boiling water twenty minutes. If the tick is much soiled, add household ammonia in the proportion of a tablespoonful to a gallon of water.

Into a tub of clear water, (soft if possible), plunge the pillow, and when cool enough to be handled, press thoroughly to set the soap in it. Rinse again in clear water and after pressing out as much water as possible, hang the pillow on the line in the sun, shaking frequently.

One of the best housecleaning work is the lifting of heavy mattresses; it is not so much their weight as awkwardness that makes handling difficult. To overcome this difficulty, lay heavy mattress at the end of the mattress, making handle of the same at each of the four corners. This removes the strain from the ends of the ticking, which soon shows wear if the handles are sewed to it simply at the corner.

To brighten matting do not wash it with soap and water, but put some bran in a cheesecloth bag, dip the bag in clean warm water, rub the matting briskly with it and rinse with a cloth wrung from warm salt water. Matting that seems hopelessly old can be renovated by this method and saved for much additional wear. Brush out the dust and from a mixture made from a pint of gasoline and enough chrome yellow oil paint to tint the mixture, brush it lightly and rapidly. Let dry over night and then varnish. You will have a floor covering as dust proof as a hardwood floor and one that will look and wear well.

If you wish to try a home-made wall-paper cleanser, the following recipe is genuine and will do good work. To one quart of water add a tablespoonful of soda, a tablespoonful of alcohol, a level tablespoonful of powdered alum, and enough water to make a stiff batter like bread sponge. Bake fifteen or twenty minutes in a greased pan. Four onto a bread board all that will come without any of the brown crust, mix into finely rolled crackers until it is too stiff to stick to the paper. Rub the paper with a small piece of this, changing it as often as it becomes soiled. Keep the large lump folded in a damp cloth to prevent it drying out too quickly. White furniture is best cleaned by moistening in a solution of baking soda—a tablespoonful of soda to a pint of warm water—and rubbed with a dry cloth afterward.

By using sponges it is possible to save much trouble and many dirty clothes. Buy two large sponges—the close, solid kind—and keep one for soapy water, the other for rinsing.

Store Apples in Dry Sand.
A box of fresh dry sand is an excellent thing to have in a corner of the storeroom or pantry. If apples are carefully packed in the sand they will keep fresh and unshrivelled for months.

Is Your Hair Right For The New Fall Styles?

You will delight in arranging your hair in the new and interesting modes of this season if you keep it perfect, soft and fluffy so that it appears naturally heavy. This will be a simple matter if you use the right shampoo. It is not advisable to use a makeshift, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of cantinor from your drugist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp grows the health which insures hair growth.—Advertisement.

Isn't it a beauty?

Scores have stood in front of our window every day this week admiring the convenience and labor-saving features, and beautiful finish of this famous.

New Hoosier Cabinet

The window shows a telling lesson of tired, overworked women, many of whom could trace "nerves" and broken health to the miles of steps they have taken unnecessarily in their kitchens.

Dozens of the women already have enrolled on the Hoosier Plan. You can have one of these cabinets in your home on this same plan.

For a Single Dollar

tomorrow, but there is no assurance that this privilege will last beyond tomorrow. We had only a few Hoosiers in the beginning, and these are nearly all gone.

The Last Day will be tomorrow, if half of the women who are on the verge of decision come tomorrow. Will you take chances on being among the half that do not come or will you come tomorrow and decide the time?

No more convenient or liberal plan could be devised, but remember, you are under no obligations to buy the Hoosier on this plan. Therefore, why not come tomorrow and see the cabinet, and make up your mind once for all, without urging, why you can have the privilege of this Hoosier Plan?

Amusements

AT THE MYERS.

Vaudeville will again be presented at Myers theatre tomorrow night, with an unusually good bill. The headliner attraction will be "The White Models," seen here with Ringling's circus and now direct from the Orpheum at Chicago. This act consists of one white horse and four beautiful white dogs in twelve poses, representing hunting scenes—a story of the hunt as white and silent as the snow. The Baltimore Press says: "The White Models" shown at the Maryland Theatre is beyond a doubt the greatest animal act ever seen in vaudeville." Clyde & Marion are billed as comedy entertainers. Broomestick Elliott, an eccentric comedian, will furnish a series of laughs.

The eleventh episode of this remarkable picture, entitled "The Painted Hills," will be presented tomorrow night. Each succeeding episode is more thrilling than the previous ones. Regarding the "Trey O' Hearts" series, the company is not allowed to leave the studio grounds at Hollywood, Cal., for the purpose of staging scenes in the serial, unless they are accompanied by one of the company's physicians from the hospital at Universal City. With him goes an emergency kit complete enough for him to set up a temporary field hospital should the occasion arise.

The printed story of the "Trey O' Hearts" is now appearing daily in the Gazette.

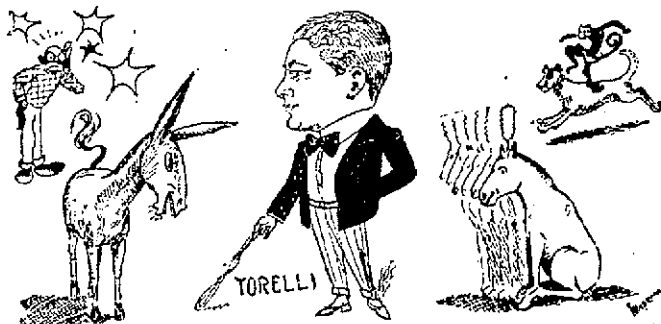

The Chicago Herald Movies will also be shown tomorrow night, picturing interesting events in and near Chicago.

AT THE APOLLO.

Novelty Animal Act.

An act that delights the children and makes the grown-ups laugh is Torelli's Dog and Pony Circus, at the Apollo for the last four days of this week. Five beautiful ponies, five well trained dogs, a couple of funny monkeys and Bessie, the unriddable mule, make up the act. It's bound to take big.

Paramount Pictures.

As a result of the formation of the Paramount Pictures Corporation, the works of a greater number of the best fiction writers and playwrights than were ever before obtainable on a single film program, may now be seen in the most attractive picture form. Superb picturizations, produced with infinite care and regard for the affectionate esteem in which these world's greatest story tellers and dramatists are held by the public, will soon be presented exclusively in the Apollo theatre for the entertainment of the best people.
